DAUGHTER FINDS FATHER SUICIDE IN W. CHARLESTON

Henry B. Towne of Stowe committed suicide by slashing his throat with a razor yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wilfred Hoisington in West Charleston.

Mr. Towne had been in the habit of rising late on Sunday mornings so his non-appearance at breakfast did not cause any anxiety on the part of his daughter. About eleven o'clock she decided to call him and receiving no response to her summons entered the bedroom.

The suicide's head was under the bed and his throat was slashed from ear to ear. The razor with which he had performed the act was lying on his shoulder.

Mr. Towne was 65 years of age and his home was in Stowe, Vermont. For the past five months he has been living with his daughter.

No reason for the deed can be given except that Mr. Towne had been recently suffering from melancholia.

After the suicide was discovered some difficulty was experienced in locating the proper state authorities. The coroner of Morrisville was notified and he asked Dr. George of St. Johnsbury to take charge of the case. After Dr. George's investigation the body was turned over to Undertaker B. S. Curtis of Newport.

Dr. George said that Mr. Towne had been dead several hours when he arrived. The suicide was probably committed some time in the night.

The funeral will be held at West Charleston on Tuesday from the home of Mrs. Hoisington.

The body will be sent to Stowe for burial.

REV. PAUL MOODY RESUMES WORK IN N. Y. CHURCH

Assistant Pastor of Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church In N. Y. City

Rev. Paul Dwight Moody of St. Johnsbury has resumed his work as an assistant pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church in New York after nearly two years of distinguished war service in the American Army which won him the rank of Major.

The New York Herald says: The Rev. Paul Dwight Moody, younger son of the late Dwight L. Moody, began his work this week as an associate pastor with the Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, at Seventy-third street. The senior associate to Dr. Coffin is the Rev. William Raymond Jelliffe.

Mr. Moody returned from France aboard the steamship Montana. He did duty for twenty months with the A. E. F. as a chaplain. He won the rank of major.

For the last year Major Moody was at General Pershing's headquarters, where he served on the board which regulated the activities of the chaplains and welfare societies of the army. The chaplain in charge of all this work was the Right Rev. Charles Henry Brent, now Bishop of Western New York, and recently Bishop of the Philippines.

Mr. Moody was about to take up his work with Dr. Coffin when America entered the war. Instead he served six months as chaplain with the First Vermont Infantry in this country. He then went to France as chaplain of the 103d Infantry, 28th Division. He remained with that organization six months when he was called to General Headquarters by Bishop Brent, with the approval of General Pershing.

For the five years before he went into the army Mr. Moody was pastor of the South Congregational church, St. Johnsbury, Vt. Previous to that he was for one year in the publishing business with his uncle, Fleming H. Revell.

Mr. Moody is married and has two daughters, Charlotte, fourteen years old, and Margaret, ten. His elder brother, William R. Moody, carries on the schools and summer Bible conferences at East Northfield, Mass., founded by their distinguished father.

WAR ORPHANS OF FRANCE DYING FROM MALNUTRITION AND SHOCK

The children of France have not yet emerged from the shadow of the war. With peace assured, and a happier future opening before them, it becomes increasingly evident that the child life of France has suffered a shock from which it is difficult to rally; while the birth rate has dropped to 8 to 8 each 1,000 population.

The Fatherless Children of France, an American organization co-operating with a similar one in Paris, of which Marshal Joffre is the head, reports that the children receiving American aid to the extent of 10 cents a day under its plan of securing American godmothers for the little French war waifs, its records show an average of 700 children's deaths per month since the armistice. The help of the American godmothers came too

JUMPS IN POND WHEN GASOLINE IRON TAKES FIRE

Montpelier Man Ends Vacation at Joe's Pond with Thrilling 10 Minutes

Arthur Clifford of Montpelier wound up a week's vacation at Joe's Pond in Danville with a very lively 10 minutes. He is suffering now from severe burns upon his hands caused by the explosion of gasoline from a heating iron.

Clifford, with a party, occupied a cottage at Point Comfort. He was at work pressing a pair of trousers when the gasoline iron he was using caught fire. He had attempted to refill the iron with gasoline when it was lighted. He found his mistake when there was a burst of flame and gasoline was ablaze on his hands and arms.

He dashed out of the kitchen where he was at work and in getting out of the house dropped the iron upon a bed in a chamber which he passed through. Of course, the bed took fire but Clifford was not greatly interested for he had made a dash for the lake where he jumped into the cool waters and put out the fire which was rapidly scorching his flesh.

When Clifford had attended to his personal comforts he rushed back to the house and with the aid of neighbors put out the fire which was burning briskly in the chamber. The damage was not heavy.

Clifford was given first aid treatment for his burns and hurried back to Montpelier where he was attended by a physician.

KIDNAPPED

E. E. Sargent, the Enterprising Grocer, Spirited Away From Town to Joe's Pond by Friends

E. E. Sargent, proprietor of the Summerville market, was hurried out of town yesterday in an automobile and for a time he believed he was to be the victim of a kidnapping. The automobile whizzed off in the direction of Danville and Sargent began to enjoy himself so much that he did not make any great protest.

Upon arrival at Joe's Pond he was surrounded by a party of relatives and friends. He inquired the cause of all the jubilation of which he was made the central figure and discovered it was a birthday party in his honor. When dinner was served a huge birthday cake adorned the table. It was a very happy party and Mr. Sargent is going to keep better track of his birthday anniversaries so as not to get such a shock in the future.

TWO ARE INJURED IN SUNDAY ACCIDENTS

Automobile Turns Turtle On Lyndonville Road—Mrs. Reed In Runaway

THE INJURED

Fred Brussie, broken leg. Resting comfortably at Brightlook hospital.

Mrs. N. G. Reed of Waterford, broken shoulder. Condition serious. At Brightlook hospital.

Two accidents that by good fortune did not result in fatalities occurred Sunday near here. Fred Brussie of St. Johnsbury is at the Brightlook hospital from a broken leg and Mrs. N. G. Reed of Waterford, 76 years old, is at the same hospital with a broken shoulder. Mrs. Reed's condition is serious owing to her advanced age.

Brussie was injured in an automobile accident when a powerful machine driven by Eugene Cook of St. Johnsbury got out of control of the driver, ploughed through a fence and turned turtle after striking a tree on the Lyndonville road north of St. Johnsbury Center. There were four persons in the car. That no one was killed was considered miraculous.

Mrs. Reed was thrown from her carriage when a horse which her husband was holding by the bit, bolted and ran away. She was thrown out of the carriage landing heavily upon her shoulder which was crushed. She was attended by Dr. Fitch and rushed to the hospital at 11 o'clock last night.

FOUR THROWN FROM SPEEDING AUTOMOBILE

Fred Brussie was taken to Brightlook hospital at one o'clock this morning with a broken leg as the result of an automobile accident earlier in the evening.

A party of four had been on a pleasure trip to Lyndonville in the made-over, 54 horse power Stevens-Duryea car belonging to Pearl Griggs of the First National Bank. Eugene Cook, chauffeur for C. H. Stevens, was driving the car.

On the return trip Cook lost control of the car which was going at a high rate of speed and it crashed into the fence beyond the steel bridge at St. Johnsbury Center and brought up against a tree. The accident occurred near the Cobb place on a curve. As the car left the road it chanced into the fence tearing out three lengths of fencing and posts and landed against a tree. The gas tank and one wheel were torn off the car and the machine was turned over along the road. Brussie's leg was broken but no other serious injury to the occupants of the car was reported.

Mr. Griggs had gone to his home in Highgate over Sunday. Cook, who is an experienced driver, asked to borrow the car. As he was familiar with the car and had had much experience driving a Packard twin-six, Mr. Griggs allowed him to use it.

Many motorists who passed the car bottom up alongside the roadside today marveled that no one in the car was killed.

Mrs. Reed thrown from CARRIAGE BY RUNAWAY

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Reed of Waterford were out driving Sunday when they stopped near the Ernest Powers place in Lower Waterford. Mr. Reed took the horse by the bit and was waiting for Mrs. Reed to get out when the horse suddenly bolted and ran against a pile of lumber. Mr. Reed was thrown aside and had to let go of the bit.

The horse continued down the road and turning a bend in the road the carriage went off an embankment and Mrs. Reed was thrown heavily to the ground landing upon her shoulder.

The horse continued down the road after the carriage had righted. Two automobiles in the road checked the speed of the horse and it was stopped without further damage. One shaft was broken and part of the harness damaged. The horse was uninjured.

Mrs. Reed was taken to a nearby house and then removed to the hospital.

Mr. Reed said today that he couldn't account for the horse bolting. The animal has been a driving horse in the family for 19 years and never had run away before. There was nothing passing the carriage at the time to cause the horse to be frightened that Mr. Reed could see.

NEWLY RICH IN ENGLAND BUYING RUSSIAN JEWELS

LONDON, July 21—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—England's newly rich, the persons who have accumulated millions during the war and since, are buying at any price demanded furniture from some of the ancient houses of the country, jewels from some of the looted palaces of Russia, and other continental countries, and paintings from anywhere if they bear the mark of time.

There is no lack of jewels for those who have the price and are willing to pay. Many beautiful pieces of jewelry, the history of which is not given by the dealer but which experts say could only come from the wealthiest families of Russia, are finding their way into the market. Enormous prices are being asked and promptly paid, while the cost of ordinary stones, diamonds for instance, has risen to unheard of heights. Many old English families also are selling off their jewels.

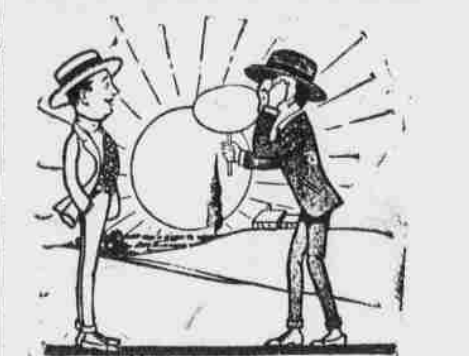

Flowers and food for the elaborate entertainments which are beginning to mark the appearance of the newly rich are commanding fancy prices such as $25 for an orchid and $150 for a peach.
